POLITICAL SCIENCE ACCOMPLISHMENTS

2011-2012

As the 2011/2012 academic year draws to a close, I would like to highlight the numerous contributions made by the faculty and graduate students in the Political Science Department over the past year. This booklet marks the first in what I hope will be an annual celebration of scholarly accomplishments made by the faculty in Political Science and our graduate students. Our department takes pride in remaining actively engaged in the discipline and the scope of publications and presentations this past academic year demonstrates our commitment to scholarship. While the following list is not comprehensive, it highlights the publications, conference papers, invited lectures and keynote speeches, and the service of our faculty to the discipline more broadly.

We would also like to celebrate our graduate students, both those who will complete their doctoral work this academic year, but also those who are already demonstrating leadership in terms of their publications and engagement with their chosen field of study. Not all graduate students are accounted for here, but those who are help to illustrate the energy and diversity of our graduate population and their contributions to the field.
